WORK STARTS AT BETHEL POST OFFICE Remodeling work at the Bethel post office was started this week by the crew of George Olson, local contractor. According to an announcement made in May by Postmaster General John A. Gounouski, changes will be made in the 1835 square feet of interior space; a platform with an area of 108 square feet will be built at the rear entrance and there will be an area of 2400 square feet for parking and movement of postal vehicles. The post office is located in the building formerly known as the "Naimy Block," on Main Street, owned by Norman L. Greig.

MRS. DAVIS RETIRES AS ASSISTANT LIBRARIAN After more than a decade of smiling and efficient service as first assistant librarian, Mrs. Elsie Davis, has resigned. The trustees and personnel of Bethel Library Association accept their loss with regret. By the adult patrons and hundreds of children who frequent the reading rooms her presence at the desk will be missed. She will serve as trustee and member of the book selection committee. Here her good judgment will be valuable. Mrs. Faye Taylor assumed the duties of first assistant on July 1.

FIRE FIRE Brush burning by crews of the Portland Pipe Line Corp. reportedly caused two wood fires last Thursday. Bethel fire department responded to the alarms. Pipe line workers and other volunteers assisted. Bull dozers and other equipment was used. Units from Woodstock, Norway and Waterford helped in fighting the fires. One fire was near Sparrowhawk Mountain in West Bethel. About three acres were burned according to Deputy Warden Gordon Eastman. The second fire, in Allans Township, burned over about twenty acres. A set of unoccupied farm buildings was destroyed. This fire was located in the vicinity of the Crocker Pond Road. A third blaze near the railroad in West Bethel required the fire fighters in the afternoon. State Police and game warden service cooperated with communication equipment during the fires. Another small blaze on the Grafton Lumber Co. property, South Bethel, Friday afternoon called out the firemen.

SCHOOL HEARING MONDAY A public hearing will be held on the forthcoming special town meeting regarding a school administrative district, at 8:00 p. m. Monday, July 12, in Odeon Hall. This will be the final opportunity for Bethel citizens to acquaint themselves with the articles to be voted upon July 14.

TEN SEEK TO SERVE BETHEL AS DIRECTORS Ten Bethel citizens filed their nomination petitions a week ago to seek election to the six positions Bethel is entitled to on the School Administrative District Board of Directors. The candidates are: Alvin Barth, Eugene Buswell, Theodore Chadbourne, Phyllis Dock, Albert J. Fiske, Roland Glines, Dr. James Hudson, Harold Rolfe, Dexter Stowell and John W. Tebbets.

TREES REMOVED FROM SCHOOL YARD A large section of an elm tree came down this week on the Bethel Bisbee School grounds, falling between the buildings and swings in back of the school where children had been playing just a short time before. The rest of the tree was found to be rotting so badly that it was necessary to cut it down. Two other already dead elms in front of the school were also removed. This perhaps is a timely warning to others who have dead and rotting trees on their property of the danger these trees can be to lives and property.

STEPHENS HOSPITAL EXPRESSES THANKS Whereas, the Stephens Memorial Hospital has successfully completed its Building Fund Drive by exceeding its goal, and Whereas, this was accomplished by the enthusiastic cooperation and labor of so many institutions and individuals in this area, Therefore, Be it Resolved, that the Board of Trustees of the Stephens Memorial Hospital here now officially express their thanks and appreciation to all those who worked so hard and gave so generously that we might better serve our patrons and patients.

Mrs. William E. Hinderman and five children of Matana, Va. are spending some time at her parents' Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Doyen's cottage on Songo Pond.

For the Soul is Dead That Slumbers... Next Wednesday voters in Bethel, Greenwood, Newry, Andover and Woodstock will decide whether they will join together to form a School Administrative District. Seventeen Directors are to be chosen to have supervision of public school education of the area young people through the 12th grade. Under the apportionment of the number of Directors each town shall have, Bethel will have six; Greenwood, Andover and Woodstock, three each; and Newry, two. Among the first duties of this Board of School Directors will be selection of a site for a high school and type and size of facilities to be constructed, subject to the approval of the voters of the District. Those that are elected by the respective towns should see that a site is selected that is readily accessible to utilities, primarily a substantial and reliable water supply. It would appear that the preliminary report of the Study Committee, about a month ago, left much to be desired on the availability of such utilities, and a location closer to a town water supply might be more feasible. In the construction of the school building and other facilities it must be remembered that this school will be for all young people. Not just the bright, but also what educational "progressives" are wont to call the slow learner, must have the equal chance to prepare for the future. Adequate vocational courses must be included in the proposed curriculum as well as college preparatory and commercial courses and provision for adequate instruction for each and every student. Physical education and athletic facilities must be supplied by an area high school of this size for a well developed brain with its ability to absorb new facts has been proven to function better in a well body. "Education has for its object the formation of character," said an author over 110 years ago. What better place to learn character, to learn that you don't always win, than on an athletic field. Anybody that in a poor loser, is likely to be an even worse winner. The citizens of this section of Oxford County have a chance to show that educationally speaking at least progress can be our most important product.

COMMENTS FROM THE TOWN MANAGER'S OFFICE

Most of the highway crew is on vacation this week. The two men who are working are hauling gravel and they will do some sweeping the last of the week. The tarring for this summer will start next week and it will continue for the next couple of weeks. Most of the tarring will be done on roads outside of the village. Only five streets are going to be tarred this year as most of the streets are in pretty good condition. A major part of the tarring will be mulching or mixing the tar and sand with the grader and spreading it with the grader. Mulching a street or road improves it a lot and the cost is not much greater than sealing.

After the tarring is done, the highway crew will start on the 1965 town road improvement program. Once in a while I hear someone say that they don't see why the town builds a piece of road way out in the woods. The money that is used to build town road improvement projects comes from the state of Maine. The state sets up certain specifications and limitations on the projects. Some roads are eligible for TRB and some are not. The projects are picked with the aim of doing the most good for the town with the money that is available.

The warrants of the special town meeting next Wednesday have been posted. Any resident of town who is not a registered voter may register any day except the day before the election. Registrations will be made on the day of the election but not on the day prior to the election.

HISTORICAL SKETCH
WOODSTOCK MAINE

by Ralph Bacon Our town of Woodstock had its beginning back in the days when a dense forest covered this entire area. Maine was first settled along the coast, but as the settlers began to move inland in search of good farm land they followed the river valleys, for along these waterways was to be found the best land for farming purposes.

Our neighboring towns of Rumford, Bethel, Norway and Paris were settled years before there was a single settler in our wilderness township, called No.
 3. An area of very rocky, mountainous country extended from the White Mountains of New Hampshire eastward into Maine. Albany, Greenwood, Milton Plantation and Woodstock remained a wilderness after Bethel had been settled for twenty-three years.

Our township seemed to offer little as a farming country, but it did have a lake on its western boundary, a jewel set in the mountains with forest all around. Its spring-fed waters cold and clear, afforded wonderful trout fishing. Early settlers in Paris made fishing trips up the Little Androscoggin River to its source in this pond.
 Among these were two brothers, Christopher and Solomon Bryant.
 These brothers were so delighted with this beautiful lake and the fine fishing it afforded that they decided they would like to settle here.

In the year 1793 the citizens of Paris and Rumford then called New Pennacook petitioned for a county road to connect the two settlements. In 1796 the road was cleared and opened to travel, although still very rough. This road entered Woodstock from Greenwood just south of what is now the Norton Higgins place, and extended up over the hill past the Hana Dudley farm, and on through what is now North Woodstock into Rumford. This was the first road through our wilderness township.

With the new road connecting Township No. 3 with the outside world, the Bryant brothers in Paris decided the time had come to start a settlement to be located not far from the lake and on the county road.

 They had a younger brother, Samuel, and several brothers-in-law. They hired a surveyor from Bethel to run out ten 100-acre lots, five on each side of the county road. This was in the spring of 1797. The following summer the Bryants cut trees on the lots they had selected. In 1798 they came again and built log cabins, and in October moved in with their wives.

In November Christopher's wife gave birth to their first child, Christopher Bryant Jr., the first child to be born in what is now Woodstock. The next year other families followed and in the winter of 1799-1800 five families were living here. They were the families of Christopher, Solomon and Samuel Bryant, Luther Briggs and Jacob Whitman. These were the pioneer folks who paved the way for other families which followed at the beginning of the new century. These were Luther Whitman, Levi Brown, Asa Thurston, and others. Probably nine families spent the winter of 1800-1801 in No. 3.

In a historical sketch, which must of necessity be brief, to give the names of all who played an important part in the settlement of our wilderness would not be possible. However, I think we can all agree that the Bryants, who had the courage to first settle in the township and encouraged others to come here, who gave their name to our lake, our village and our pond after are the ones to whom we do honor today. Woodstock is not only proud of the Bryant family, but of all the other early settlers, and of those in more recent years, who have given their best to make our town a better place in which to live. The names of Andrews, Baker, Chase, Cochran, Cole, Curtis, Dudley, Davis, Hays, Day, Felt, Perkins, and Dunham are only a few of the many.

Questions and Answers

Question — May school administrative districts be formed to operate secondary schools only? Answer—No. School administrative districts are responsible for all public schools, both elementary and secondary.

Question — What transportation will be provided in school administrative districts? Answer—The same for both elementary and secondary pupils as is now provided by law for elementary pupils.

Question — Are school administrative districts required to operate a sub-primary or pre-primary grades? Answer—Yes. Or forfeit the 1.0% subsidy increase.

Question — Will school building aid be available from the state for buildings constructed or contracted for prior to the formation of the school administrative district? Answer—Yes, if such construction were approved subsequent to August 28, 1957.

Question — Why does the State Board have to approve a district before it can be created? Answer — Because the state is interested in all cities and towns, and some safeguard must be established so that certain towns that wish to join will not be left out and unable to join a school administrative district.

Question — Who prepares the operating budget for a school administrative district? Answer—The superintendent of schools and the board of school directors.

Question — How may the school directors secure funds for capital outlay purposes (building new buildings)? Answer—Only on approval by the voters of the district voting at an election called for the purpose.

Question — What happens to any capital indebtedness that may remain on school buildings when a town joins a school administrative district? Answer — By vote of the citizens of each municipality in the proposed district, the newly formed district must agree to accept responsibility for amortizing all outstanding capital indebtedness on school buildings.

Question — Why should the new district assume responsibility for paying off the unpaid balance on school buildings that transferred to the district?
 Answer—The whole district will profit from the use of these buildings. Also, most municipalities that have no outstanding indebtedness for this purpose have constructed no new buildings, and, in all probability, the district will need to build additional facilities for their pupils in the near future.

20 SECONDS WITH THE NAZARENE

TALKING TO GOD

There is a special time and place On each and every day
 When I can always talk with God And ask Him for the way.
 I only want the Saviour's will In everything I do;
 And even though I talk to Him,
 It helps to listen too.
